

in a desire to show His love, but in an intelligent thinking out of how to display it/ in such a way that His purposes are advanced, and that their welfare is advanced, and to remember there are differences between us and other people. Giving honor unto the wife as unto the weaker vessel/. There are differences between man and wife, and with us and any other Christians, there are differences, and God has given us special gifts to one he hasn't given to another, and along with the special gift there may go a special weakness that the other is strong, and where you are strong you kind of step roughshod over the one who is weak in this regard, and maybe be alot stronger than you in ~~the~~ other regards. And God wants us to learn to show gnosis in our relation with members of our family, in our relation with members of the seminary family, in our relation with members of the family of God, in order that the love of God may have free course to flow out through us, to them, to exert itself toward them, and toward therest of his kingdom. A hindrance to prayer is the lack of true understanding which may come from sin, but which may come from carelessness, from a failure to think things through, and to ~~see~~ see how we can glorify God properly in every relationship in our lives. ~~And~~

And then a third hindrance to prayer I would mention now, is a lack of proper fellowship with God. I heard an interesting conversation a few minutes ago in my office. Well, perhaps I should give the background of it. My secretary said to me, Here is a person who has ~~handed~~ handed all of his prophets assignments except one, and that one isn't here. And I said, Well, now, all the prophets assignments are supposed to be in by this time for this semester. Because we are moving forward in studying them, and something done later doesn't give the material for discussion, and this one has ^{his} paper not in. And I said, Well, send him a note and tell him about it, and she sent him a note, and I was sitting at my desk and I heard this man step into the room, and I heard him say, Hilda, I turned in that assignment. And she ~~said~~ said, Oh, did you? Then I must have made a mistake. And he walked out. And that's all there was to it. And I thought suppose a person habitually was late in their assignments. Who would pay any attention to a statement
