

swimming on the pond, these beautiful white swans . Oh what an idyllic scene how it would fit with ~~the~~ what ~~it~~ she ~~was~~ was just telling us, what the perfection of the world, the beauty and the loveliness . You know while we were standing there watching, a duck waddled into the pond over at the other end, way over there. The duck wasn't as ~~pretty~~ pretty as the swan, but I'm afraid a few minutes later we thought the ~~swan were~~ swans were uglier than the duck, because of what happened. The duck no sooner ~~it~~ came into ~~the tank~~ that pond, a great big swan nearly as big as this room, four swans there and a duck there, then these ducks began heading across that pond as ~~it~~ fast as they could and two ~~fox~~ of them got to the duck at the same time, and they began biting it at the neck and drove it out of the pond. They weren't going to have ~~it~~ any ducks in their pond, and this girl ~~it~~ looked and her eyes got ~~big~~ big as saucers, she said, Why, that's unsocial. And it was indeed, and I don't know whether she ever learned, but I hope that she did because ~~it~~ she's had some pretty ~~said~~ sad experiences if she didn't that this world is unsocial because sin has come into this world. Sin has come in, wickedness has come in, and there are those that . . cunning craftiness and sleight of men whereby they lie in wait. ~~we~~ ~~weight~~ - I've been reading a book ~~later~~ lately called, Diplomat among warriors. It's ~~a~~ the story of the ~~career~~ career of Robert Mercer, ~~who~~ - Murphy who was President's Roosevelt's ~~next~~ personal ~~it~~ representative in North Africa for four ~~year~~ years during the war, then he was his representative in Italy and was ~~it~~ very important in ~~the~~ <sup>the</sup> occupation of Germany and many of those events in the diplomacy of that whole period, and it is interesting and tragic to read in that book how Roosevelt ~~it~~ thought, and these other ~~it~~ people thought If we just ~~rea~~ treat Stalin like a nice, lovely gentleman ~~it~~ will respond
