

feelings toward other people can ruin out spiritual lives and cause utter destruction toward the work we are attempting to do. And God wished to rule out this attitude of jealousy and suspicion out of the camp as far as possible. And so he said when the man has this suspicion, when he has this attitude, when he has this fear, when he has absolutely no proof do ~~nt~~ not let it rankle within his heart but during this wilderness journey He provided a means whereby it could either be proven, or the man could know that it was false He wants us to avoid holding resentment in our hearts. How much of individual misery among Christians and among other people is caused by reelings of resentment that we get in our hearts and that we harbor there and we carry on.

I have occasionally found recently, I have occasionally found it interesting between one and one-thirty to turn on channel 10 which they call Dr. Bernhard Esychia trist, and every day they show him talking with someone who is having depression or having some kind of misery, and he talks to them, and talks to them and just about every case he gradually brings it out as he asks questions about their dreams, about their ideas, about their feelings. he bradually brings it out that there is jealousy. there is resentment against some other person in the family, or some other person elsewhere that they are harboring and is is making their life miserable. It should not be necessary for us to go to an expert to find these feelings within our hearts but we should ask the Holy Spirit where there is something wrong that we have to deal with to deal with it in the proper and effective way, but where there is something we cannot know, or where there is some wrong that we cannot deal with to put it out of our minds, to put it. to leave it in the hands of God, and not to allow these feelings. and resentments, and suspicions, and jealousy to festery^{within} us and to destroy our sp ritual life and our peace of mind. And so in this case God for this ~~pr~~ brief period, intervned in order that it shouldd be easier for the Israelites to go through that pilgrimage journey and to reach the land of Palestine in a condition and in a readiness to do what God wished them to do there.

Now I asked in the assignment that I gave to those of you who are signed up for
