

of many <sup>a</sup> <sup>of the churches</sup> person. And when they gave up their faith in the teachings of the Bible, there remained a great emotion. The emotion that Christianity had generated went into an idea of building of a perfect world here upon this earth. But the building, the idea was developed without really looking into the situation and seeing what it really was. The result was that the attitude <sup>that developed</sup> ~~left~~ among these modernist teachers was., We are in a terrible situation in the world; look at the graft in high places; look at all the money that goes to big business instead of being distributed to poor people; look at the awful wickedness that there is in the world today; we're got to destroy all the wicked (men? works?); we've got to do away with these corporations; we've got to destroy (big) business.

There is a book by a man by the name of Stewart Alsop who is a commentator for NEWSWEEK. He recently wrote this book, Stay of Execution describing his recent experiences with leukemia. He tells about meeting a young lawyer and the young lawyer told him how terrible was the American system. Something must be done to change it all, to do away with all selfishness and graft in the American system. He said to the man, Oh, you want to ~~intro-~~ <sup>intro-</sup>duce Marxian system? Oh, no, the fellow said, I've travelled in Eastern Europe and they have even less freedom under Marxism than we have. What we need is for everybody just to live together in peace and to love each other." Sounds perfectly beautiful' If we have 1% of the people on the world that we have today, and we would draw a line around them and say, I'm going to live in this area <sup>are you what I want</sup> ~~???~~ we might just live together in peace and harmony, but pretty soon we would find that some were trying to take from the others. Wickedness is not limited to any class. But we have a system which has been developed through the great inventions of the corporations, and through the ~~invention~~ development of thousands of corporations competing against each other and under a free enterprise system developing this system which we have today where we are accustomed to being able to buy gasoline brought all the way from Arabia probably.
