

is over anxious or frustrated or fearing that I hadn't done the best I can, therefore, it's my fault. Keep each of them in its proper limit. (Oh, sure) as long as we do that, I'm sure we can wait until the Lord reveals it to us. Daniel (What was your other question?) ((It had to do with Daniel)) ((This was in respect to predicting the coming of Christ --the time of the coming of Christ.)) You mean Daniel nine? (Yea) ((Now, there's a couple of questions. One of the questions was 1) a lot of people I've heard make comments on using the number seven. They feel it is used so often in the Bible that it also has other meaning to it. In other words, could there be anything else associated with these numbers in meaning, other than actual numerical meaning.) Oh, I would say that numbers are used a great deal as figures. But as a rule they simply mean the numerical value, like where they say caught 350 fish. People have tried to get a meaning out of this number. I don't think that it means more than just the number that they caught. (It says 70 years 9 and then right away the 7 is used in respect to people involved.) And yet there is many, many cases where you settle arguments. I think you want to go slow on it. Very often it is a numodic device. I would go very slow on the importance of numbers. (Well, the other question was pretty much answered last night. (Working out, I think it's in Daniel 9, where it says Christ's coming is so many years after the fall of Jerusalem)) Was it? The issue of the decree to rebuild the temple. There is much argument there. ((I'm wondering in working it up if there is enough evidence to --of course we can use it as)) I don't think the Lord wanted to give precise numbers so people would say, This is the year that the Lord is coming. I think He wants us to be ready at all times. ((No, that's not what you were referring to, was it Clay?) (He's referring to when Christ was going to be crucified. Extract that from Daniel 9. In 62 weeks there shall be built and after 62 weeks the Messiah shall be cut off anddestroy the city and the sanctuary, and it goes on down saying
