

teaching. Thus the verse, "Proclaim liberty liberty throughout the land," (AAMV) "proclaim liberty throughout all the ~~land~~ land," (KJV) while in the context it does not mean exactly what was meant by the American Revolution, yet in the larger context of Scriptural teaching is a definite statement of a great Chn° teaching. We are indeed to proclaim liberty ~~xxx~~ throughout the land, to set the captives free, to tell those who are bound from sin how they may escape from its ~~xxx~~ shackles.

It is not the primary purpose (bw?) obligation (?) of the Chn° to take part in politics. He should know that he cannot establish a perfect life on earth as ~~xx~~ long as this world is made up of sinful creatures. Yet it is his duty to do the ~~d~~ good that he ~~d~~ can along the way. If he lives in a country ~~where~~ where individuals have a right to vote and to take a part in government it is his duty to give a reasonable share of his time to this activity. He should always act in such a way as will keep governmental power at a minimum, will restrict government to its proper sphere of providing freedom
