

Only a person of determined blind faith can possibly doubt the stated purpose of the Soviet rulers to gain complete control of the entire world. Never pausing in their aggression, save when faced with superior power, they have constantly and ruthlessly pushed forward. One after another, by deceit, by fraud, or by outright aggression, they have been taking the nations of eastern Europe, Asia, and the Americas. They shrewdly will make any sort of a compromise or deal to gain their end. Once they have gained their point, pacts and promises mean absolutely nothing to them. In the aftermath of World War II, they agreed at Potsdam that Germany should be administered as one unit, with each of the four powers administering its separate area and all cooperating in the overall government of the country. Yet, with relative swiftness, they put an Iron Curtain around Eastern Germany, forced its citizens to hear a constant barrage of communistic propaganda, and imprisoned, brutally tortured, or exiled to Siberia those who showed lack of interest in the communistic ideology. Thousands of people were forced to work in the uranium mines, at great constant danger of their lives, to produce the material with which to overthrow the free world. Spy rings have been discovered in one after another of our free nations, and it would be foolhardy indeed to say that others are not still active. All this is essentially the largest logically developed product of atheism, the effort to avoid all obedience to God's word and His revealed most desirable way of life.

5. The proponents of this other religion have control of the leadership of the World Council of Churches.

Before the unprovoked aggression of North Korea had aroused such strong anti-communist feeling in this country, modernist leaders frequently made statements praising various aspects of the Russian system. An instance in
