Internal and External Evidences of the Bible
by the Rev. Allan A. MacRae, Ph.D.,
President and Professor of Old Testament at Faith Theological Seminary, Wilmington, Delaware, U.S.A.

I consider it a real privilege to speak to you this afternoon on the subject that has been assigned to me: Internal and External Evidences of the Word of God. I can think of no more important subject to present before an international gathering of Christians.

Sometimes Fundamentalists are accused of worshipping the Bible. Such a charge is utterly false. We worship God and Him alone. Yet we stand on the basis which has been characteristic of Christianity from its very beginning, that the Bible, in its entirety, is God's Word. If a man truly believes in God he must of necessity be interested in learning God's Will. Christians believe that there is one way of learning God's Will. That way is through careful study, under the direction of the Holy Spirit, of the Book that God has given.

This is the very foundation of our religion. Every Christian doctrine, every Christian viewpoint, every Christian action must be tested by the Word of God. If it is in line with the Word of God, it is right. If it is contrary to the Word of God, it is wrong.
