

The Bible shows that there is indeed terror, misery, and upheaval ahead for the world, though it does say that some will not have to go through this terrible period. It also shows, however, that there will be upon this world a period of righteousness with peace and happiness far better than anything the secular planners could ever hope to produce. It is this latter promise of peace and prosperity at which we shall look first.