

expecting not a group to call a man unless he does receive an ordination of the ~~the~~ group of elders.

But now, the second phase of it, was the selction of temporary leaders or preachers. The selction of temporary leaders and preachers, to determine who is to preach. In this particular point, again we have the hierararchical system, in which the preacher, the minister has the complete authority, who is going to ~~xxx~~ take his leave when he is away. Who is going to fill in. ~~Whxxxxxxx~~ Who is going to assist in all the functions. The minister has the completel authority, or the man above him in the hierarchical system. Then we have the congregational system where the congregation makes the selection ~~entirely~~ entirely in this thing. ~~Whxxxxxxx~~ Then we have the Presbyterian system, in which in this, if it is a function of ~~xxx~~ preaching, he should be a man whom the presbytery has approved. At least of having him under care. Usually of having him at least liscensed.(end of record)

So you will find that in most churches if it is not a presbyterian system, it devolves on the minister. And it devolves to quite an extent on the minister. So it is function, in general, of the inner control of the church. And in its general features it goes along with others. We will look at it later.

Now, the third thing. (several questions)

Well, now, the third is the matter of ~~the~~ the change of a ~~pastor~~ pastor. The change of a pastor. To determine who shall preach to a congregation. Now supposing that the minister who is in the church is ^{not} doing a ~~particxlarly~~ particularly good job. The qualifications of the man prove unworthy. In other words, he is heretical, or he falls into sin. I am thinking of a case where he doesn't do a very good job. Now this ~~is~~ is a point in ch. govt., which is important. What is going to happen to the church. I know of a church where the man was installed, a church in Philadelphia, the church would seat 600 people, and there were that many people the night he was installed. Every seat was taken and there were people standing up. And ~~they~~ this man was installed in the church, he started to preach, and pretty soon they found people wouldn't
